This document is a selected listing of periodicals, (journals, newsletters, bulletins, etc.) in the field of science and technology education that are published in Member States and by international organizations. Its purpose is to facilitate the diffusion and the exchange of information for those concerned with science and technology education in the Member States.

The list is based upon various sources of information available to the Unesco Secretariat. Although no strict criteria were adopted in selecting the periodicals to be entered in this document, emphasis was placed on choosing those which concern themselves with general science and technology education, or those which, if not directly concerned with the subject matter, were likely to contain articles relevant to it. Also, despite the fact that the sources of information were extensive, it is probable that some important periodicals are missing from this listing and that some information is incorrect or out-of-date. This document is of provisional character and the Unesco Secretariat (*) would like to receive comments and suggestions with regard to additions and/or corrections to this list, so that a revised edition can be compiled.
